SQUAMISH

The District of Squamish is located in the southwest corner of British Columbia, where rugged landscapes and stunning vistas come together to create a unique and memorable location. Surrounded by spectacular snow-capped mountains to glacial lakes and nestled within a temperate rainforest.

Guarded by the Stawamus Chief and inhabited by North America's highest concentration of wintering bald eagles. Squamish is an authentic West Coast mountain town with an award-winning craft brewery and distillery, farm to table dining experiences, sidewalk cafes, driftwood beaches and a rich First Nations culture.
